MODEL T Ford CLUB OF MILWAUKEE

A Post Card Poem

A little spark, a little coil,
A little gas, a little oil,
A piece of tin, a two-inch board—
Put them together and you have a Ford.

She rattles down the dusty lane,
With brass lamps glowing in the rain,
A hand-throttle singing on the wheel,
And wood-spoke tires of iron-and-steel

She climbs the hill on backward gear,
When forward fails the mountaineer,
The radiator boiling bright,
A wheezing marvel of her light

That Dear Old Flivver

From nineteen-eight to twenty-eight,
She rolled across every single state,
On gravel roads and prairie tracks,
Carrying dreams upon her back—
Black as night and built to last,
The tin Lizzie that moved the past
